

winning

THANKYOU

Always communicate with courtesy and avoid offensive language. Respect others' opinions, even if they differ from your own. Contribute to positive and constructive online environment.

Avoid tagging people in posts or sharing their information without premission. Don't forward private messages or emails without consent.

Treat others online with the same respect and kindness that you would want to receive. Courtesy, respect, and good behavior are essential when interacting online, just as they are in real life.

Verify the accuracy of information before sharing it, avoiding the spread of false or misleading news.

Take a moment to consider the impact of your words. Are they kind? Are they constructive? If not, rethink them.

6. Respect others

Think before creating a sticker of someone and making fun of it.

7. Avoid flaming

Don't engage in hate conversation.

8. Reporting

Report inadequate messages or posts.

9. Don't share personal information

Don't write under your real identity, use a pseudonym in social media. You should never share your personal information.

10. A secure password

It is recommended to have a complicated password to avoid being tracked.

